STATE,

THE THIRD PARTY IDEA

THE FARMERS MEET IN COLUMBUS with the Avowed Purpose of Killing Off Sherman and McKinley—What the Effect Will Be on the Parties.

CINCINNATI, O., May 26 .- [Special.]-The state convention of the Farmers' Union of Ohio, which will be held in Columbus tomor-rew, is attracting widespread attention.

It will measure the strength of the new political party in Ohio, and indicate the proba-ble vote they will poll this fall.

The Farmers' Union was organized last summer. It is composed of delegates from the Alliances, Grange, Farmers' Mutual Benefit Association, Patrons of Industry and, in fact, all the farmer organization, the state of the state o tions in the state. Last year the union was controlled by republican politicians, who are de-termined to use the organization to serve their own ends if possible. It is supposed to be a very conservative body. The third party men will make a desperate effort to commit the union to the third party in the state at least. I hardly think that they will succeed, but they will have such a strong minority in the convention that the moral effect will be the same.

THERE WILL BE A TICKET.

No matter what the convention may do, the people's party will have a ticket in the field just the same, but if they can secure the en-dersement of the union, it will add thousands of votes to their strength in Ohio. The republican politicians are greatly alarmed over the outlook, and will have their leaders at the convention to do what they can to prevent any expression of opinion.

SHERMAN AND M'KINLEY. It is now conceeded that the new party will defeat John Sherman and McKinley. They make no concealment of the fact that if they can beat these two men they will have accom-plished all they want in Ohio this year. Some of the ablest men in the Farmers' Union, who opposed a third party last year, favor it now, and this circumstance tends to make the result of the convention very doubt-

That there will be a great fight is beyond doubt. The republican forces will be led by J. H. Brigham, master of the State National Grange, who is a most intense republican. He seld out the farmers last year, and was rewarded for his treachery by a nomination for congress in the sixth district, which was represented by a republican. Brigham was defeated by 200 votes, and since that he has lost s good deal of his influence. Charles Jenkins, state lecturer of the Farmers' Alliance, will lead the third yarty forces, and he will be assisted by some of the ablest men of the state HOW THE DEMOCRATS REGARD IT.

The democrats are regarding the fight with the utmost complacency, as in any event they must be the gainers. A careful estimate of the strength of the third party movement in Ohio shows that at least 80 per cent of it will come from the republicans, and this is what is causing so much alarm among the republicans. The news from Columbus is that McKinley himself will drop into that city tomorrow and look

The third party men say that it is not at all essential that they should have the endorsement of the union; to get it will add thousands of votes to their ticket. They declare that every man in the convention who is for a third party, will vote that way, even though the union should refuse to endorse it. The third party men have the ablest talkers on their side, but the republicans, of course, excel them in trickery and ability to manage a convention. Some very sharp practice was resorted to last year, but that per-formance will not be repeated at this confer-ence. It is claimed that had it not been for the trickery of Brigham and others the con-vention last year would have declared for the organization of a third party at that time. The third party advocates will not insist that but simply favor an independent movement in

OPPOSED TO THE SUBTREASURY. The majority of the farmers in this state ar opposed to the subtreasury scheme, and that will be one of the strongest arguments against the party among the conservative ele Even the third party men in this state do not attempt to defend the subtreasury plan, and insist that it will not be a part of the national platform next year, but was put into the Cininnati platform as a means of uniting all the elements who are opposed to the existing state of things. On free silver and the abolition of national banks there is practical unanimity among the Ohio Grangers, although the Crighams do not want to refer to the national banks. Not only will there be a fight on enbanks. Not only will there be a fight on endorsing the third party, but on the platform of the union. The republican crowd will want to let the tariff alone, while a large element will seek to insert the same plank as is found in the Cincinnati platform, which declares opposition to the principle of taxing one industry to build up another. If the union declares for an independent ticket in this state, the farmer's party may poil 100,000 votes, and in any event, from present indications, it will not fall below 40,000. As at least 30,000 of these would come from the republicans, it can be easily seen that that party has very little chance of carrying the state.

The objective point of the new party will be the legislature. In many of the strong republican counties the democrats will endorse their candidates, which will lose the republicans several members without a doubt. It is thought that the republicans will do the same in democratic counties, and in this way the people's party is very likely to have things, their own way in the Ohio legislature this winter.

There will be an immense crowd at Columbus tomorrow, and the proceedings will be watched with the greatest interest, because of the pronounced opposition to McKinley among the farmers.

MORRING THE CHRISTIANS. The Methodist Mission at Nankin, China, Attacked.

Shanghai, May 26.—The statement that Christian missions at Nankin have been attacked and pillaged by natives is correct. The inmates managed to escape. All the Euro-pean women and children have left Nankin. The Methodist girls' school has been set on fire and looted. The anti-foreign mob, after doing a considerable amount of damage, dispersed. The British twin screw steel torpedo craiser Porpoise, six guns, 1,700 tons, 3,500 horse power, Commander Richard W. White, has been ordered to Nankin to investigate the riot and to protect British interests. Chinese troops also have been despatched to the scene of the trouble.

The southern Methodist church has four onaries in China who went from Atlanta. They are Miss Laura Haygood, Mrs. Brown, formerly Miss Muse; Mr. Anderson and Mr.

The many friends of the Georgia missiona-ries, in the city and through the state, will be glad to hear that none of them are located at Nankin, the scene of the anti-foreign demon-strations.

Mr. W. A. Haygood, who is well informed on the missionary work in China, says that the southern Methodist church has no mission at Nankin and that the mission attacked by the Chinese was under the management of a joint mission board.

TRAIN ROBBERS IN MAINE, But They Are Not as Successful as the Western Fellows. Bangor, Me., May 26.—A train which left Bangor for St. John last night at 7:40 o'clock was held up just beyond Enfield by four men, who fired at the engineer and cars. The train had left Enfield, when a man, who was noticed by the fireman crawling over the tender, told them to stop the train. The gong on the engine sounded, but the engineer did not stop the train until the gong sounded again. The train then came to a standstill, when the shooting was heard, and for five minutes the gang kept up an indiscriminate firing, the mail car being the particular object of the attack. The leader of the gang was armed with a rifle; the others with revolvers. They fired several shots into the baggage and mail cars, but the engineer pulled the train out before any one was injured. The station agent at Enfield was fired at by the men as he was hanging out a signal light. The glass of the lantern was broken and the light extinguished. The men ordered him to leave, and he did so Officers will be sent out to capture the assailants if possible. The affair has caused considerable excitement in this section.

him to the body. Senator Call spoke with much feeling for half an hour, attempting to repay the opposi-tion for the vigorous attacks that had been hurled against him. He said that his election was a robuke and a staggering blow to corporate power; that he was proud to know there was a power in the lame the Farmers' Alliance, and he was glad to welcome it as an ally of the democratic party. He congratulated his friends, who stood by him, and that their names had been written high upon the roll of honor, that they were to be congratulated not so much in his personal election but as in his being the exponent of undying hostility to railroad corporations of this country. Here the senator became quite hoarse, which made it difficult to understand what he did say. In conclusion he said that the democratic party lives not by any two-third rule, or by any caucus edict, but lives only by the advice of the majority.

'Of course they will make by it. I would heartly support the free coinage of a dollar's worth of sliver. Nobody could be hurt by that. I am a bimetallist, and believe in keeping gold and sliver on a parity. Of course we have gotto have coin. We will use paper money most conveniently, and it must be based on something, and sliver and gold are the metals to base it on.

"I tell these people that whatever kind of money the government may issue, it will all go back to Wall street under the present system of taxation. Those bankers will get it aure. One thing to do is to take off the tax which is taking the life out of them.

"Still, free coinage is upon us, and the law will be passed. If its effects should prove disastrous the law could be suspended, but it is very hard to repeal a bad law. Still, if it should work as badly as some think it will, averybody would see the propriety of repealing the law."

PRESBYTERIAN MISSIONS. The Foreign Committee Asks for More

Money for the Work. BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 26.—In the Presby-terian assembly today the judicial committee, in answer to an overture from Mecklenburg presbytery about Rev. B. K. Robinson, of Knoxville, reported that the committee did not think this body had the right to deal with the case under the present circumstances.

The synodical records of Alabama, i South

Carolina and Kentucky were found correct, with two slight exceptions.

The foreign mission committee, through

Chairman Bryan, of Asheville, N. C., reported that they want $150,000 for foreign missions, that they want $150,000 for foreign missions, and the last Sunday in May was set aside as children's day. Sympathy was expressed for the missionaries in Greece. The proposed mission work among the Jews was declined on account of work in other directions. The assembly voted to raise the $150,000, as recommended. Last year $112,000 was raised. It was resolved to push work in Brazil. Other parts of the report were adopted.

It was decided to transfer publication of The Missionary from Richmond, Va., to Nashville, and the publishers were so notified. It was decided to divide the offices of assistant secretary and treasurer, the former to be elected by the assembly and the latter by the executive committee. The proposition to appoint a field secretary for foreign missions was voted down, and an executive committee on foreign missions appointed. The home missions committee report was adopted, and an executive home mission committee appointed.

The home missions committee report was adopted, and an executive home mission committee appointed.

The special committee on Sabbath observance criticized the newspapers and railroads for running on Sandays. Thirty-five thousand dollars was voted for sustaining home missions; $10,000 for loan and church building fund; $32,000 for work among the Indians, and $20,000 for the invalid fund.

I had asked him what his next move would be in the case, to which he made the foregoing reply. He then went on to say that there would be necessarily several moves before the case sinally came to the supreme court, but, as a good general does not disclose his plans of campaign, he did not propose to let his plans be known.

General Butler chuckled over his success in getting Mrs. Johnson out of jail on a writ after having been refused a supersedeas by Judge Carpenter, or "that accidental judge from Rhode Island," as he sarcastically termed him. The writ of error, he says, has been grauted, and the case will be argued before the supreme court, when the general hopes to have the women acquitted. He told me this evening that he could secure her pardon from the governor of Massachusetts, but it was not a pardon but an acquittal for which he was working.

I asked the general if he ever expected to appear before Judge Carpenter again.

KANAAS CITY, May 26.—Henry Singleton, a man of intellectual cast of countenance but with an eye which betrays instability of mind, went to Seneca, Kan., three years ago and bought an old flour mill half a mile from the town. He lived in the mill but made no flour, although the engines were often heard running. He admitted no visitors, explaining that helped a flyng machine. The impression that the fellow was a harmless crank was dispelled last night when he began a bombardment of the town. L. L. Haggard was sitting in front of the Hotel Cameron at 11 o'clock when a crash was heard on the roof, and a round missile rolled down and struck him in the abdomen. Immediately another crash was heard across the street and a fuslade was kept up, halls of burnt clay weighing five pounds striking every half minute and doing considerable damage in the west end of town. Men armed with revolvers and shotguns started for the old mill and soon made Singleton their prisoner. They found about 800 of the clay balls ready for use and a powerful ingeniously constructed steam catapult, which would throw one of the projectiles a distance of a mile. The Stage Drivers Charge the Police and Overturn the Coaches.

Paris, May 26.—The strike of the stage drivers throughout Paris, begun yesterday, continues today, causing great excitement in this city. Enormous crowds of people, a majority of whom are in warm sympathy with the strikers, surrounded the depots of the omnibus company during the night and this morning the company's depot and offices were guarded by strong forces of police and detachments of troops. There was no serious disturbance last night, but the rioting was renewed early today, when the stage company, assisted by police, made endeavors to run several stages. Strikers spickets had kept the main body of discontented men well informed of the movement of the project with the result that a crowd of the most desperate striking drivers gathered at a point from which the stages were to start. No sooner were the stages well out of the depot than they were greeted with volley upon volley of stones, which were accompanied with a perfect storm of hoots and jesting. Though the stages were escorted by policemen, the strikers watched their opportunity, and, at a signal agreed upon, charged upon the stages, swept away the police lines, dragged "black legs" drivers from their boxes, pounded them vigorously, cut the traces of the horses, and, in several cases, overturned and seriously damaged the stages themselves.

The police did the heat to protect the companies smployes and properly, but their of tout were nearly useless, in the face of the overwhelmingly powerful rushes of the mob.

THE STUDENTS ASSEMBLE AT THE DEPOT

To Welcome a Baseball Club Returning Vic orious from the Field-An Arrest Causes a General Fight.

Iowa City, Ia, May 26.—There is much trouble here. It all started over a game of baseball. The University club went to Grinnell and played a match game, the Iowa college defeating it. The result was telegraphed to Iowa City and between 200 and 300 students went to the depot to give the victors and authoritation realized. to give the victors an enthusiastic w

Shortly afterward a student blew a blast on the ain bugle, whereupon a policeman approached him from behind and dealt him a fearful blow with his club back of the ear felling him to the ground and rendering him insensible

This enraged the students and they made if so hot for the policeman that he jumped into a cab, drove up town, procured help and awaited the arrival of the procession, which the students formed upon the arrival of the team. The officers then arrested two leaders of the procession and scarted with them to the city half.

Some one in the crowd yelled: "Shall we let the boys go to jail?"

There was a general shout of "no, no," and the students, nearly 300 in number, threw themselves upon the policemen. A desperate conflict ensued. The two students under arrest were rescued several times, but refused

FLEASE DON'T EXPOSE.

Dear Sir: It is with pleasure we send you this circular, and we hope you will read it carefully and decide to go to work at it at once.

We have a large lot of greenbacks for sale that cannot be told from the genuine, except by an expert. It will pass anywhere like a dandy, except at Washington, D. C. It is as fine an imitation as human hands can produce work. We have these goods in fires, tens and twenties only. Not less than $5 worth sold except to persons not able to order that much at a time. They can send what they are able.

If you have no use for our goods, please don't give us away.

Make your orders large as possible. You will not regret it. Never meation money when you order. Say medicins, large, amall or medium sized bottles. We will understand. Send greenback, postal note or by express or check on New York. We will ship your goods by mail or express, as you wish. Please don't write unless you order, and say as little as possible then. Frices, $40 for $5, $100 for $10, $300 for $25, $700 for $50, $1,000 for $70, and so on. Address

Bought His Own Family.

CHARLESTON, S. C., May 26.—[Special.]—Rev. Jacob Mills, probably the oldest negre preacher in the United States, died here yesterday. He was ninety-one years of age, and had been an exhorter even in slavery times. He named half the colored people in Charleston, and was the spiritual adviser of four generations of negroes. Since the close of the war he has been connected with the Centenary church, which is in the northern Methodists connections. The funeral took place this afternoon, and took the form of a public demonstration. Mills was given his freedom when quite a young man. His master and mistress died soon after, and Mills's wife and five children were put upon the anction block to be sold to settle the estate. He bought them himself, and paid for them out of his earnings.

case of William Autrey, alias J. M. Ailen, charged with bigamy, was taken up in the superior court today. Miss Maude Weeks is prosecutor. She is a young factory operative, and claims that Autrey took her to walk over in Hamburg one Sunday afternoon in March, and married her under the name of Allen, and after living two days with her, abandoned her home, and it was then, Miss Weeks says, she learned that her husband was a married man, and she had him arrested.

Autrey's defense is that it is a case of mistaken identity. M. P. Foster, Autrey's attorney, argued all day that the courts of Georgia have no jurisdiction over the case, claiming if the offense was committed, it was committed in South Carolina, as the marriage was performed in Hamburg. Judge Rooney will decide that question in the morning. e of William Autrey, alias J. M. Ailen,

CHARGED WITH CATTLE STEALING The Capture of a Man Who Made a Remarkable Escape.

Rome, Ga., May 26.—[Special.]—Tom Morton, a white man, who was arrested a few weeks ago for cattle stealing, and who succeeded in getting away from the arresting officers, has been recaptured. The deputy sheriff of Walker county and Bailiff Dunwoody, of Chattooga county, brought Morton in today. The failure of the parties to identify him with the missing cattle caused his release.

Morton's escape from the officers was remarkable. Morton had a friend who followed behind when he was arrested, and when nearing the city his friend pulled his pistol out and shot Bailiff Spraggings in the arm. Spraggings was on horseback, and as he returned the fire his horse ran away. The prisoner was in a buggy with Bailiff White, and their horse got to running, and as White tried to hold the horse Morton jumped out, so Morton and his friend escaped. Morton was arrested in Chattooga county.

two Octelles, the reading by Katie Allen, and the oration of A. S. Fraley.

The main feature was the excellent address by Professor W. S. Scarborough, Ph.D., Wilberforce, O. His subject was "Modern Drift," which was well handled and very ably treated. His paper showed great research, depth of thought, and thorough acquaintance with all the modern views of education. The speaker laid great stress on industrial and technological schools and emphasized the point that the "hands should be as skillfully trained as the mind."

Bishop Gaines made a few timely remarks and then introduced Rev. A. F. Sherill, pastor of the First Congregational church, who made a well-timed and appropriate talk.

The bishop next introduced Colonel De-Wolfe, lately of Ohio, now of this city, who gave a very interesting talk on industrial education.

It is not fair to let this impression remain uncorrected, when there were perhaps a score of church members present and perhaps a score of church members present and who assisted in opening and lighting the church. When I reached the church, supposing it would be lighted, I found it all darkness and a group of disappointed people standing about the sidewalk. It was then decided Deacon Calloway, Mr. Abbott, myself and others consenting, that we had as much right to open the church as any other mem-ber had to order it closed. We acted accordingly.

much right to open the church as any other member had to order it closed. We acted accordingly, opened and lighted the church, had a delightful service and were highly edified by the preaching or teaching (call it as you please) of a woman. As to the right of a woman to teach or preach the gospel in our churches, I know there is a great diversity of opinion among our Baptist people. There are many godly men and women among our ranks who conscientiously believe that "women Charles are many godly men and women among our ranks who conscientiously believe that "women in Christ Jesus" are free to deliver entious, who believe that their position is unptural and anti-Paulism in the extreme. It will be impossible to settle this matter of conscience by bitter and foolish argument. I hope our Baptists generally will be too wise to attempt such a course. Let us love each other with our antipodal views on this subject, with that spirit only which becomes those who have "named the name of Christ." Let us remember that it is possible, sometimes, for us to be more Baptistic than Christian.

or endorsement from me. She is herself an un answerable argument against the doctrine tha woman shall not preach or teach the gospel is our churches, and I need not present any other did I desire to do so. Belle K. Abbott.

BELIEVES IN CUTICURA

This, an unsolicited testimonial of the efficacy of your Great Skin Cure, the Cuticura Ointment, can, however worded, poorly express mine and our opinion regarding its efficacy. We have used it on every cut, bruise, or eruption, and it has cured me of chilbiains and several itches and rashes, while your Resolvent cured "chicken choiera." I used it as a chance experiment with the most successful results, and since taking an occasional dose of it have been comparatively free from chills, so prevalent in this vicinity. I thoroughly believe in the Cuticura Remadules being able to cure more varied forms of disease than any other remedy.

Your Cuticura Remadules have our hearty indorsement, and if any of our wide circle of friends and customers through our recommendation try them, we feel assured that you will have another letter similar to this, to fill what must be a long file of recommendations.

The Brooklyn Derby.

Gravesend, N. Y., May 28.—Upwards of 15,000 person dared the threatening weather to do its worst today and made the journey here to witness the running of the great American stakes for two-year-olds and the Brooklyn derby for three-year-olds. All of the youngsters that have shown in the east started in the great American stakes, including Canyans, by Forestay, out of Allice Bruce. cluding Canvass, by Forester, out of Alice Bruce, for which Gebhard recently paid $21,500. He was tipped and touted all over the country and as a consequence went to the post a favorite but at the end he was not in it, as St. Florian, the handsome son of St. Blaise and Few Follet, belonging to J. A. and A. H. Morris, won rather handily. The Brooklyn derby also resulted in a triumph for the Morris stable, as it ran first and second with Russell and Ambulance, $35,500, Bolero finishing

PRIZE FIGHT IN AUSTRALIA. Choyneski Knocks Tooley Out in the Sec

MELBOURNE, May 26 .- The prize fight which came off here yesterday between Choyneski and Tooley was one of the shortest combats ever recorded in the history of the ring. The result showed that Tooley was no match for Choyneski, for the latter knocked him out in a few minutes. From the moment the men entered the ring Choyneski adopted bustling tactics, and in a short time he drove Tooley to

When the men faced each other in the second When the men faced each other in the second round it was further demonstrated that Choyneski was the superior of Tooley. The latter was completely overpowered, and when the eleven seconds of the time alloted for the second round had expired, Choyneski made a drive at Tooley and knocked him completely out. Choyneski, who was a favorite in the betting at odds of five to four, received no punishment at all.

Griffin, Ga., May 26.—[Special.]—The Daphnean Society of the Griffin High school held their entertainment last night at Patterson hall. The recitations were all good, and some of them very fine. The exercises were much enjoyed by the large audience present. Today the primary and grammar grades gave their exhibitions. The whole programme reflected much credit on Superintendent Graham and his teachers. Music taught for the first time in the public school this year is being made a special part of the commencement exercises. Tonight, at the hall, will be given by the school "Tom Sawyer," Mark Twain's most humorous production, as dramatized by "Bill Arp," It will be an immense success. The advance sale of tickets already guarantees this fact. Tomorrow morning Hon. John T. #### Senator Carlisle's Policy.

In his interview on the currency question Senator Carlisle says that he has experienced no marked change of heart, though he predicts the speedy passage of the free coinage bill and announces that he will vote for it in the senate.

In saying that he would heartily advocate the free coinage of a dollar's worth of silver, he makes use of the same subtle sophistry with which the eastern money monopolists are blinding some of our southern bankers and business men. The sense of equity is strong in the average mind, much as human nature has been abused, and the idea of coining a light-weight dollar is naturally re pulsive. This feeling, the goldbugs adroitly play upon. For some time they have been harping on the idea that free coinage will put in circulation a flood of cheap coins, nominally containing a dollar's worth of silver, but in reality carrying something like

The people who advance this argument do not undertake to say that the market price of silver would remain the same under free coinage, for they know it is not true. They cunningly ignore that fact. The great law of supply and demand, according to their view, has nothing to do with the price of coinage? There are in round numbers 60,-000,000 of people in the United States, and 60,000,000 in Central and South America, all using silver. According to the law passed by republicans, we are now coining at the rate of $60,000,000 a year. If Spanish America, with the same population, should coin the same amount of money, the coinage of North and South America would be $120,000,000, which is three-fourths of the world's supply. The other $40,000,000 would be needed to supply the partial silver coinage of the Latin Union with 150,000,000 people, and the demand of India, China and Egypt, with several hundred millions more. The idea is assidu-ously cultivated that those oriental naare going to swamp us with their silver as soon as we begin free coinage. The fact is that China has lately silver. More silver is needed to move the increasing crops of India. Then, if we coin what we need, and South America does the same, silver will be in demand, instead of a drug in the market. For nearly twenty years the natural use of silver has been prohibited throughout a large part of the civilized world. It was done because that policy enables England and Germany to fleece India, China and Egypt in the exchanges. By demonetizing silver depresed it, and so cheapened in their own markets the silver coi which buys wheat and cotton in India and Egypt. At the same times manufactured goods shipped from England or Germany to India, Egypt or China, are sold on a gold basis and bring a larger price in silver. Thus England and Germany get a premium on the goods they sell the orient and take a discount off the cotton and wheat they buy there. There is the same reason for English and German manufacturers to fight silver that there is for our protected industries to fight tariff reform—they fight the thing that relieves them of the swag. Depreciated silver hurts the American producers of corn and wheat and all other exports, just as it hurts producers in India and Egypt.

We see that England and Germany fight silver, not because of any sound financial reason, but because it enables them to practice extortion on silver countries, so long as America, which produces nine-tenths of the silver, is simple enough to help depreciate its own product. When America restore the legitimate demand for silver by taking off the artificial and unnatural restrictions put upon it by republicans and alien na tions, the law of demand and supply will operate at once on the market price of bullion. Never during the seventy-three years of this century when silver was given the same showing as gold, were 371 grains bullion market. Restore the same natural conditions and it will again be impossible to buy 371 grains for less than $1. Suppos you put 25 per cent more silver in the dollar adopt free coinage, what will be the result? The coin stamped $1 and containing 464 grains of fine silver will immediately ng $1.25 in the bullion market. Wha be the result of that? Silver dollars night up and exported to those where, when reached, they would annexis where, when reached, they aring $1.25. This is no mere speculation; at is history. The experiment was tried in England 200 years ago, and the country lost its aliver. The Encyclopedia Britannica wives the following account of the matter: was accordingly experted to continental Europe and to India. The loss of the silver coins arouse public attention, and the matter was submitted to fir Issae Newton, whose answer was given in the "third representation." He proposed to reduct the guines from 21s. 6d. to 21s. as an experimental measure. The proper reduction for the object is view would have been to 20s. 8d. The silver drain therefore, continued, and England came to have a gold currency. An opposite arrangement gay France a silver currency. The recent facts of French monetary history, as well as those of the United States, illustrate the same condition of affairs. The difficulty of constituting a doubt standard system on a secure basis is thus mad clear, so far at least as regards a single country for the continuance of the two metals in the currency depends on the market ratio and the legal ratio between gold and silver being the same is 6d. At this ratio, silver was un

The goldbugs talk about the bounty we are to pay the present holders of silver when we make 371 fine grains worth $1. What do these people say about the loss of from $70,000,000 to $100,000,000 a year on the cotton crop, because of the depreciation of silver? What do they say to the like loss on the exports of grain? Must this enormous robbery of nearly $200,000,000 a year con tinue because the restoration of silver to its natural and original basis will make some body a couple of millions on the $10,000,000 of silver now held in New York? Are we going to continue to lose $200,000,000 a year to keep the speculators from making $2, 000,000 one time? Away with such non sense! Let no sensible man continue to urge this imbecile plea.

The experience of the last two centuries shows that 371 fine grains of silver make too much rather than too lit-tle for the dollar. This quantity makes the ratio between gold and silver a little less than 16 to 1. Now see what the ratio has been for the last two centuries. We quote again from the Encyclopædia Britannica article money table I.

Thus, for two centuries, silver maintained its ratio with very slight fluctuation until Germany, Belguim, the Scandinavian Union and the United States conspired against the white metal. Then was seen a depreciation such as the world never saw before. The preliminary steps toward free coinage in the United States have given silver an upward turn again and sympathy with the movement is beginning to manifest itself in Germany and England. There is no doubt that the end of the matter will be an international agreement adopting the double standard; neither silver or gold will suffice to form the basis of the world's currency; both are necessary, and the different coun tries will be forced to an understanding which will establish the ratio in the neighborhood of 15.9 to 1, which is approximately the ratio adopted for free coinage.

Manual Training and Specialties. The Richmond Times, speaking of the Mechanics' Institute in that city, says: Manual training has come to be really a need caused by the present environments of modern life. It has been well said by a contemporary that "the education which produces a 'handy man' was best adapted to a former day, before competitie and the division of labor had driven all classes men into specialism. What is the most so after now is a master worker in some particular line. The old-fashioned all-around physician, lawyer and teacher were the products of a by-. They still have their place in s but it is the specialist in medicine, the advocate or business lawyer, and the thorough master of a given branch of learning who is demanded in th olroom and who 'rakes in the shekels.'

Our contemporary goes on to say that the principle here enunciated permeates every avenue of life. All-round men, as they are called, are useful, but there is a growing demand for men who are instructed in special

The recognition of this fact has modified our system of public school education, and it s being separated into new departments. Naturally, the fear is expressed in some quarters that manual training will be overdone, and that too much attention will be paid to specialties. We must guard against such evils as well as we can, and take our chances. We must train a certain proper tion of heads and hands to do a few things thoroughly, and we must also train other heads and hands to do many things in a general and superficial way. We do not want too many specialists, and we do not want too many all-round men. Doubtless after we have passed through the necessary experimental stages, the law of supply and lemand will make itself felt in the education of the future.

We have received the following communication, which we publish with pleasure:
Editor Constitution: As an old railroad man, well acquainted with the drift of railroad management in the state, I ask a little space in your paper to direct attention to the fact that the miserable management of the Georgia Pacific and the Richmond and Danville railroads should not cause the people to condemn the other railroads, which are doing their best to serve the public in the best possible manner.

which are doing their test to serve the public in the best possible manner.

The Richmond and Danville and the Georgia Pacific railroads have virtually ceased, being Georgia corporations, and nearly all business to be transacted with them must be done either in Washington or New York. It is drifting further and further away from Georgia, and no doubt the time will come when the headquarters of these two reaches will come from Georgia, and no doubt the time will come when the headquarters of these two roads, will be removed to London, or elsewhere out of reach. It seems to be their policy to take everything away from Georgia, and to have no executive representative here to deal with the people. The merchants complain that there is no man in Atlants to represent either of these roads who can make a rate without writing to New York or elsewhere. If this thing keeps up both of these roads should be operated by a series of dummles, manipulated by electricity from New York. The general manager in the north will press the button, and the Georgia dummles will do the rest.

Is it not time that these companies should be informed that they owe something to the state of Georgia, and that they cannot always trifle with the interests of their patrons in this state.

AN OLD RAILEGARDE.

There is at least some ground for the above complaint, and The Constitution

There is at least some ground for the above complaint, and THE CONSTITUTION publishes it in the hope that those the control the policy of these two roads hay take occasion to consider the matter. We are constantly in receipt of complaints from merchants and business men generally, about the manner in which the Richmond and Danville and the Georgia Pacific rail-

To their conduct more than to anything else is to be attributed the recent agitation of the drummers of the state in favor of the 2-cent rate, and it seems a hardship that the other railroads that are trying to satisfy the public should be made to suffer for the shortnings of others, over which they have no control. With the thorough service and the enstant effort to please its patrons that the Georgia railroad shows, with the close relations to the people of the Western and At-lantic, the Central, the East Tennesssee, Virginia and Georgia or the Atlanta and West Point, there would be decidedly less ground for complaint against the Rich and Danville or the Georgia Pacific.

We would suggest that these two roads profit by the experience of the others, and come a little closer to the people, for it would be a pity if, in disciplining them, the others should be made to suffer.

A Nebraska Judge.

According to The Hub, a paper published at Kearney, Neb., the distress of the farmers has touched the judicial bench, and caused it to exercise a rare degree of discretion in administering the law. It seems that while court was in session in s town appropriately named Broken Bow, a lawyer applied for a rule to confirm a farm mortgage sale. The scene that followed was almost without a precedent in court annals. Judge Hamer, who was presiding, looked thoughtfully at the lawyer a moment. Then his eyes ranged over the sad-faced farmers in the hall of justice.

"I will not do it!" said the judge. "This docket is covered, page upon page, with confirmation cases. The drought of last summer has exhausted the farmer's resources and he is unable to pay his loans. The ac of God, for which the people are not responsible, has reduced one-half of them almost to beggary, and this calamity shall not be made worse by any act of mine. We are asked to turn 100 farmers over to money lenders and 500 women and children over to pauperism. It shall never be done in this district while I am judge. The people are not able to pay, and I will not assist in robbing them. Let us wait until a crop can be raised and confidence restored, and all will come out all right. If a man be living on his land, or trying to cultivate it, he should have the reward of his work. I will never confirm a sale in times like these, if the owner is trying to make a living on the land. When the people are compelled to ask aid to procure seed it would be a cruel mockery to deprive them of the land to sow the seed upon. I have a right not to confirm a sale when the property sold does not bring twothirds its actual value, and in these cases it has not brought that amount. The sale is not confirmed." From the conclusion of the judge's remarks it will be seen that he had a good legal reason for his action under the laws of Nebraska, and it might have been better if he had confined himself to a simple statement of the fact that he would not confirm a foreclosure sale unless it brought two-thirds of the value of the property. All his talk about being unwilling to assist in robbing the farmers was improper. Because the money lenders wanted to collect their debt when it was due did not make them robbers. and the judge had no right to denounce them in such terms.

Still, this incident shows how close the bench is to the people, and how easy it is for one touch of nature to make them kin.

It shows, too, that when the toilers of the land are paralyzed by a great misfortune it is no time for the creditor class to resort to extreme measures. In spite of their ironclad mortgages, they should be reasonably patient and accommodating.

The story carries a lesson with it, and it is to be hoped that it will be so generally heeded that the Nebraska judicial eruption will not be repeated.

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

A CORRESPONDENT OF The New York Sun, in answer to the question, "Can anyone give me a cure for drunkenness?" says: "Indulgence in spirits after while—which is longer or shorter according to the constitution of the person—produces irrita-tion, inflammation, and fever of the stomach, hence the craving for drink; and the greater the fever, the greater the craving. As spirits act also on the nervous system and on the brain, the or the nervous system and on the brain, the nervous system becomes impaired and the brain the nervous system becomes impaired and the brain weakened. Who can deny that a person alling in these several ways is laboring under a serions discase? He has then no will power to exercise, because the seat of the will is in the nervous centers, and when these are impaired or destroyed so is also the will power. Here is the cure: Let the person have within his reach a small vial of the best kind of tineture of Peruvian bark, and when the craving for liquor comes on him let him take a teaspoonful of the fincture every two hours. In a few days the tasts for liquor is destroyed, and destroyed while indulging in it, for tincture of Peruvian bark is spirits into which has been drawn all the substance of Peruvian bark. It is to be found in every drug store, but it should be of the very best. Peruvian bark is a tonic. It is also the best, if not the only cure known for fever. It is from Peruvian hark that quinne is extracted, and, moreover, it is anti-periodic. It is by these three agenties that it destroys the craving for liquer.

Some years ago the mail was "called" at the Canton postoffice, as it is now in some sections of north Georgia. When the mail arrived, usually about once or twice a week, but occasionally in some places once a day, all the neighborhood would congregate about the store or postoffice and as the postmaster would pigeon hole the mail he would call out who it was for, and the party he would call out who it was for, and the party whose name was called would halloo out "here," and step up and get his letter or paper and then give away for another. But Canton has long since grown out of this, and now has one of the best postoffice buildings and best managed offices in north Georgia, where everything pertaining to Uncle Sam's local postal business is efficiently, promptly and obligingly attended to by Postmaster Edwards and his daughter.

the college campus sell with a crasm yesterday, and with each rainstorm of spring and summer it seems that the stalwart oak is crumbling to decay.

Who has not heard of the Bob Toombs oak and of its history? Who has not been told of that pleasing incident in the life of General Toombs when forbidden by expulsion to speak from the chapel stage with his fellow seniors, he coolly walked out of the hall and took his stand in the shadow of this giant oak, and charmed hundreds of Georgians with the magic of his eloquence, drawing them from the exercises within?

General Toombs, with a wreath of well-deserved fame, and with a crown of universal admiration, has "crossed the river to join the majority." The old oak for several years has been going to decay. Its trunk is becoming hollowed by time's telling stroke, and the manunoth branches are gradually growing dead and falling back to mother earth. In all probability the tree will have to be cut down.

There is something touching in the parallel histories of the man and of the tree. Both were reared into prominence at the same moment; both have flourished among their kingdoms with lofty heads; both have fallen at almost simultaneous periods. Neither will soon be forgotton.

ETCHED AND SKETCHED.

Quite a stir was created yesterday in railroad circles and about the capitol by a rumor that the governor was consideringithe advisability of vetoing the finding of the Western and Atlantic commission in the betterment case.

Under the act of the legislature providing for the commission the governor is instructed to examine the finding of the same and either approve or veto it, reporting to the legislature.

The governor has been engaged in examining the report of the commission since it was made, and the story of yesterday was to the effect that he had been advised by prominent lawyers that in their opinion the supreme court would sustain him in vetoing the commission's work.

The lawyers who represented the state in the case held that the lessees were not entitled to a cent, and at least two of them still hold to that opinion. It was likewise incorporated in yestercent, and at least two of them still hold to that opinion. It was likewise incorporated in yesterday's rumor that Judge Clifford Anderson had been one of the lawyers to so advise the governor. The story was discussed by many interested parties last evening, and more than one expressed opinions that it was correct.

Governor Northen, however, denies it. That is, he told me last night that Judge Anderson had not advised with him at all on the subject, and that he had corne to no decision whatever in the matter.

"Indeed," said he, "I have not finished reading the finding of the commission yet, and until I give it thorough consideration I shall make no decision. I have not told any one that I shall either approve or veto it, and shall express no opinion until I have carefully reviewed the re-

Should Governor Northen veto the finding the matter would then be taken to the supreme court by the lessees.

The re-election of Senator Call, of Florida, was quite a victory for him, after the long fight. He has already served twelve years in the senate, and this means six more.

Senator Call is noted in the senate for his wonderful powers of endurance. It is said of him that no question has ever come before the senate on which he failed to make a speech. He can talk six hours on any subject without catching his breath, and, when really interested in a subject, he can even distance Mr. Julius Brown's record in the betterment case.

"It looks like Athens is going for prohibition," said Colonel Larry Gantt, who returned from a visit to the Classic City yesterday. "Two weeks ago the anti's were certain they had it, but a change seems to have come over the people and it looks like the prohibitionists are going to carry the day."

I met Colonel Bill Smith, of Gwinnett, at the Kimball last evening.

"You cannot draw the people of the ninth district out of the democratic party," said he. "It matters not who the democrats nominate for president, the old ninth will vote for him; but we must have a free coinage man. Third party talk don't go up in our country. We don't want Cleve-land, and we are not going to have him; but, even were he nominated, that could not even drive the democrats of the ninth out of the dem-party to go into a third party."

I see some of the Washington correspondents are writing about Stanford as the third party

It seems a little funny, but it is not an improba

It seems a little funny, but it is not an improbability by any means. The California senator is worth fully $100,000,000, and the third party crowd could easily bleed him to the extent of $20,000,000 or $30,000,000 were they to give him the nomination. That would go a long ways.

Again Stanford safter it in earnest. He introduced and pushed his land loan bill for this purpose, and this purpose only. He believed that would make the alliance of the country solid for him, and he believes a nomination on such a platform with a well-organized third party, backed by his millions, would mean an election. He has been looking in this direction for some time. That was demonstrated to a few when it became known that he paid a newspaper writer $10,000 last winter to interview him and have the interview printed simultaneously in a dozen of the leading papers of the country. Stanford is a good politician. He stands squarely in line with the third party platform, and there are many who would not be surprised to see him the nominee.

A third party could do more in a race with him

A third party could do more in a race with him as standard bearer than perhaps any other man who would go into it. He has no heirs and his fortune would be put into the contest. Fifty million or $60,000,000 could be spread to advantage over a large area, and it would at least relieve the tightness of money for a time.

"Yes, the people of Savannah favor dividing the of Savannah, last evening. "The seacoast of Georgia needs, and should have, two representa-tives in congress. And again, there will always be friction as long as Savannah and Brunswick are in the same district. Brunswick wants to pull out and we think that best. Of course the Brunswich district will be south of the Altamaha and will nearly cross the state, but that will be proper Then the Savannah district can start at the Alta Then the Savannah district can start at the Altamaha running up and taking the Oconee river as the western boundary and the Savannah as the eastern. Perhaps it might have to cross the Oconee or again we might run up and take in Burke and the counties up the Central railroad for considerable distance. By this means we would get a district having close commercial relations with Savannah and it would be satisfactory."

The forecloseure of a mortgage for $111,700 by the H. B. Clafin Company, of New York, caused the closing.

And yet through it all Mr. Steve Ryan calmly and coolly assisted the attorneys nd court officers to secure a start into an insight of his business.

To the public generally, the intelligence of his failure was a genuine surprise.

But among the merchants, with whom Mr. Ryan came in competition, the failure was anticipated-and with many gladly re-

After the doors closed, nearly every one could be heard to say: "I told you so."

Since Mr. Steve Ryan, assumed control of the house some four years ago he has made several innovations upon his line and has introduced many startling sen-

First he departed from the regular dry goods line four years ago by stocking his asement floor with toys, china, and brica-brac for Christmas. On these goods he made an extensive run and many families which had been patronizing a line carrying those articles filled Christmas stockings from Steve Ryan's basement—filled them, too, cheaper than ever before.

This was made a part of the original or main building and when stocked Mr. Ryan claimed the largest floor space in the south. The new portion was stocked with the

With all this, success continued to pour in upon the young merchant. But Steve Ryan was nothing if

A year ago he inaugurated a series of special sales. With big advertisements he informed the public that for two hours a day on certain days he would sell towels, shirts, hose and underwear for less than half their actual cost. This proved a drawing card, and long before the hour of sale the house was jammed, packed For the time specified the sales went on

The articles apparently were slaughtered. Then when the time was up the people left or bought something else.

This special sale line was taken up by others. SHOES FOR HALF PRICE. A year ago Mr. Ryan turned his sensational trump card. He announced to the world that he would sell the best hand-made shoes, worth $5 to $6 a pair at $2 to $2.50 a pair. This produced a rush, and for days the use was thronged.

Everybody went there for a pair of shoes, Everybody came away with a pair of sho

But Mr. Ryan only smiled. Once he offered an explanation to a friend, and it was this:

an explanation to a friend, and it was this:

"I contracted with one of the finest shoe factories in this country for $60,000 worth of shoes. They were to be delivered by a given date. They did not come, and I was forced to buy elsewhers. Sixty days later the factory shipped me the shoes and declined to take them. They all bore my name, and he agreed to sell them to me for about 30 cents on the dellar. These are the shoes, and now you know how it is that I can sell them."

Mr. Ryan did not fail on the shoes and the prophets lost.

Early this year heladded another sensation so his career after a trip to New York. Mr. Ryan electrified the commercial world by an-nouncing that he would sell suits of clothing

People flocked to his store.

The basement was converted into a veritable clothing house. Scores of clerks were fitting armies of men. Clothing of all grades, sizes and shapes was scattered about. Nearly everybody was pleased and fitted and during the early spring months when a man appeared

HIS PAILURE PREDICTED. Ryan's clothing slaughter led to many pre-dictions of his early failure.

Even in New York it was discussed and when Mr. Ryan went east later to buy he was astonished to find that the manufacturers had boycotted him. Mr. Ryan held a long conference with them during which they informed him that they could not sell him as his cut in prices was hurting the men to whom they sold

"All right," said Mr. Ryan in reply, "I'll buy them from people after you sell and I'll sell them cheaper than ever."

THEY STILL SELL HIM. This induced another conference, and the sailors' association finally withdrew their deation not to sell him.

About this time a New York firm with whom Mr. Ryan had been dealing—N. J. Schloss & Co.—attached some goods in New York consigned to Mr. Ryan. This gave his house a black eye in the commercial agencies, and very materially affected Mr. Ryan's credit. Mr. Byan gave bond for the goods and then sued the Schloss firm for damages.

HIS GOODS ATTACHED. Soon after Mr. Ryan's return from that trip to New York drafts began pouring in on him Some were for money due, and some for money not yet due. In two days he paid $165,000 of these drafts, and a few days later hegan receiving explanatory letters from those who had drawn. Some were for money But the cloud of the Schloss attachmen

"Will he pull through?"

"Mr. Ryan never knew until today the friends he has. Quite a number of the most wealthy and influential gentlemen of Atlanta have offered to help him today. But Steve will take care of himself."

Assets and Liabilities.

From the most reliable source, Mr. Ryan's assets may be said to be $700,000 to $800,000. Those who are intimatetly acquainted with his affairs, say that his liabilities will approximate $1,250,000.

The Ninth regiment was taken as an illustration. Those companies would drill against one another, but would not come to Atlanta to

One of the policies alone must bear the loss, and the court will now pass on the liability of the Rome company that part of the bill relating to the Niagara company having previously on demurrer been stricken.

The complaint as it now stands alleges that the Rome company issued a policy on the plaintiff's works, that the plaintiff had never seen the policy and did not know its conditions, therefore had not have able to furnish such therefore had not been able to furnish such proofs of loss as might have been required.

The petition further avers that the policy is in the hands of the defendants, and that the agent of the defendant abstracted it from the pocket of the agent of the plaintiff.

As told in the answer of the Niagara pany to the original bill and in the bill as it ands it happened in this way.

Mr. Berry endeavored to this way.

Mr. Berry, the agent of Goode & Co., who represents the Niagara Insurance Company, had secured the writing of a policy on the glass works for that company. The company afterwards directed the policy to be canceled and Mr. Berry endeavored to get the policy back, making several calls at the office of the glass works, but without avail. works, but without avail.

The Rome company agreeing to take the risk, it appears from the papers that Mr. Berry took out a policy on the works in that company. About this time, and while he had the policy on his person, Mr. Berry was called upon to act as a juror, which kept him from any knowledge of what was going on on the out

As soon as he came out he went to his office, and while standing at the telephone using the instrument, some one reached over his shoulder and took the papers from his inside pocket. Mr. Berry says it was Mr. M. A. Torbett, of M. A. Torbett & Co., who represent the Rome mother, who resides near the Atlanta cotton factory.

Speaking of the case Judge Calhoun said:

"It is an unusually distressing one. Only two years ago I sent the girl's father to the asylum. Her grandfather was in my regiment during the war, and at Vicksburg received a terrible wound, the ball entering the eye and coming out beneath the ear. Strange to say, he survived this and lived until several years after the war. I regret very deeply that I am again called upon to perform a sad service for this family in committing this girl to the asylum."

ts Against Ballroads—Damages Asked by imployes Who Allege They Were Hurt and That the Companies Are Liable,

A polition asking for $15,000 damages was filed in the city court.

David H. Lee is the petitioner and the Rich mond and Danville Railroad Company the defendant.

Plaintiff says that on the 17th day of Dec ber, 1890, he was employed as a conductor on a freight train of the 'railroad (company. That at the time mentioned he was in charge of a train that left Atlanta at 1:15 o'clock p. m., and that the train while running at a proper speed, soon after it left the city, near Ponc de Leon spring, collided with the rear end of se construction train that was standing on the main line of defendant's road.

He alleges that the railroad company was guilty of gross negligence in failing to give notice of the construction train occupying the track and charges negligence in failing to keep

Petitioner further says that at the time of the collision he was in his proper place, in the upper part of the caboose, and in the wreck he was thrown down and through the front door of the caboose, against a post, breaking three of his ribs and causing concussion of the brain and spine; that he remained unconscious twenty-four hours and was confined to his bed

He also complains that his injuries are of s permanent character, and that while still a young man he will be deprived of the com-pensation which, without the injuries, he would have been able to earn.

Another Damage Case. George Douglass brings suit against the Richmond and Danville Railroad Company

Petitioner says that he was employed as a coupler by the road, and it was his duty to couple yard trains; that on May 16, 1891, it devolved on him to couple the engine to some cars—and while in the exercise of due care, he mounted the feetboard of the engine and held the link in a proper position to insert it into the bumper of the car, anticipating that the engine would so slacken the speed that the coupling could be made with safety. Contrary to the custom and what he believed would be the case, plaintiff says the engine ran violently against the car, crushing and mutilating his hand and injuring his capacity for future labor at least two-thirds, thereby damaging him the amount claimed. The suit is filed in the superior

About Cashing a Check. Samuel H. Mackey wants the Atlanta Trust and Banking Company to pay him $2,000 damages for refusing to cash his check.

in the bank that the bank "neeligently, wilraily and wrongfully refused to pay a check given by him to Petterson & Caldwell, a firm doing business in Atlanta."

It is further alleged in the petition that the check was given to Petterson & Caldwell in payment for purchases made of that firm, and that he went to them to explain the matter and found that he had done so barely in time,
as they were threatening him with the shame
of arrest and criminal prosecution on account

as they were threatening him with the shame of arrest and criminal prosecution on account of payment having been refused.

He also says the check went through the Gate City bank and was returned marked worthless, defendant stating that he had no funds there, and that a number of persons heard of the transaction. All of which he thinks was calculated to greatly damage him. Petitioner avers that he is a young man struggling to get a start in commercial life and is dependent almost wholly upon his probity and upon his correct, honest and honorable dealing with business men, and that the conduct of the defendent resulted in injury honorable dealing with business men, and that the conduct of the defendent resulted in injury

The shot was fired from a pistol in the hands of N. A. Lanford, a brother officer.

It was purely socidental, and no one grieves more over the matter than Mr. Lanford.

Mr. Goodson was struck by the bullit at 7:45 o'clock, and breathed his last just before noon, in the presence of his family and several officers of the police department.

No man on the force had more warm friends and admirers than Bob Goodson, and the deepest of sorrow is axpressed by all who knew him.

When the pistol was fired he was standing just in front of the police stables, with one hand grasping an awning post.

The heavy sobs of the poor wife, the loud cries of the children and the silent tears of entrance into the union depot.

The plans were perfected some time ago, nd work is now progressing as fast as the resident engineer, Mr. McDonald, can nuch it pushit.

For a long time the Western and Atlantic has been crowded on the present track into the depot, and lately the press of business has become so great that some action looking to the relief of its overburdened main track had to be taken, and that at once.

It was then decided to build a new route from Foundry street for the accommodation of its overflow of business. Just whether the new track will be devoted to freight or passenger traffic has not yet been decided by the management, but it is probable that it will be used for the latter. In any event, the new line will be a great convenience to the patrons of the road, obviating the vexations delays now experienced by the intermingling of freight and passenger business on the sar track, or, in other words, all freight switchi will be done on one line of track, thus giving the passenger trains a clear track from the passenger trains a clear track from Foundry street to the union depot and facilitating travel in no small degree.

The new route will not affect the Georgia Pacific, which uses the right of way of the Western and Atlantic—that is, if the new lessess see fit to continue their contract with that road, which there is no doubt they will do. The Georgia Pacific will, therefore, derive the same benefit from the improvement as [the inaugurators will, and without additional expense.

The railroad situation in Chattanooga, in regard to using the public streets as switchyards, is an issue in Chattanooga affairs. The News, of a recent date, has this to say:

cent date, has this to say:

The use of Markets etreet as a switchyard by the railroads is a legal and a moral wrong; every hour in the day death and destruction is faced by the people of Chattanooga at this terrible man trap; it if lot safe to drive across, and no less dangerout walk across this switchyard. Have the people no rights? Is there no one clothed with suffit ...nt power to lessen, if not to suppress, this danger? Is there no value of life and limb in Chattanooga?

The track on the Chattanooga Southern is completed from Gadsden to Yellow creek, and from the Kensington tunnel south to Little river. The bridge across Yellow creek is finished, and that over Little river will be at the end of this month. There are five miles of track to lay between these streams, which will be done by June 1st, and by June 5th the track will be leveled up so that trains can be run over it. Ninety feet of the tunnel still remain to clear, which will be done by the latter date. It will thus be seen that by June 10th at the furthest the existing gaps will be closed, so that trains will be able to run over it from Chattanooga to Gadsden.

Great interest is being taken in the revival of the projected route between Athens and Jeffer-son, and it seems that the citizens of that town are ripe for its imaterialization. Although the line has been resurrected at stated intervals and discussed vigorously it is by no means a dead issue; and the benefits to accrue from its building make it only a question of time when it will be completed.

An extension of the East and West railroad is spoken of from Cartersville through Cherokee at no distant day. The development of the iron ore beds in that county makes it desirable that the extension should be made.

ing a drooping tendency without more than insignificant changes in quotations. Excessive shipments of gold are now having their legitimate effect in the indifference of the public, which grows out of the apprehensions in regard to the future of the money market, and is seen in the dimintahing business of commission houses, leaving the trading again almost entirely in the hands of traders and professionals, the former being now, as generally in dull times, ranged on the bear side. Operations today were insignificant outside of new shares, and while the opening was generally lower and the tendency during the forenon was downward, there were no material losses incurred, and the latter smallness of the export movement caused some covering which practically recovered the losses, and in sifew stocks, like the Missouri Pacific, Wheeling and Lake Erle, and the St. Paul and Union Pacific, it caused slight advances for the day. The only marked upward movements, however, was in sugar, which rose 11¢ per cent to 85. The market closed rather heavy at an improvement over the lowest prices established in the afternoon and close to those of the opening. Sales—listed, 183,000; unlisted, 13,000.

Hubbard, Price & Co.'s Circular, NEW YORK, May 86.—(Special.)—To the general surprise of this market futures in Idverpool, although opening lower than last night's close, were by 120'clock 1-84d better and closed firm at an advance of 1-33d on the near positions and 263-64d on the distant. Cables advised that the improvement was due.

1-64d better and closed firm at an advance of 1-32d on the near positions and 2@3-64d on the distant. Cables advised that the improvement was due to reports of serious damage to the Egyptian crop, and advices from Messrs. Neill Bros. that the outlook for the American crop was unfavorable. These cables were in many instances preceded by buying orders for considerable quantities of cotton, and the execution of these caused as advance of from 4@5 points at the opening here. The improvement was checked, however, by selling orders emanating chiefly from New Orleans, where the weakness of the near positions emboldens the bears. Toward the close, however, there was a recovery, and the market closed steady on August and the positions this side of it, while the new crops were firm and very paringly offered. Telegrams to us from New Orleans advise that Mr. Henry Neill says the crop needs rain, and that he feels uncomfortable about the outlook. The future course of prices remains dependent upon the currency which had crop accounts attain. Such as reach us are far from favorable, but the general disposition is still to ignore or disorded them. Liverpool cables say that Messrs. Neill Bros. report is likely to be received with confidence in Manchester and on the continent in view of their correctness the past season.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

tures of the Speculative Movement in CHICAGO, May 28—At the opening today the wheat trade was supplied with news indicating that there were frosts last night, amounting in some places to a freeze, over a large portion of the northwestern wheat belt. The result was a little exhibition of strength at the start, though the market opened somewhat lower, and with the exception of this, and another spurt of strength near the close the market was dull, weak and featureless. July wheat opened at $1.00%, sold off to 99%c, ranged for long time between 19% and $1.00%, and then, in sympathy with corn, bulged to $1.00%, and then, in sympathy with corn, bulged to $1.00%, and then, in sympathy with corn, bulged to $1.00%, but sugged off to $1.00% at the close. Speculative offerings were quite large at the start, and some of the large bear traders were again at work to held down prices, but at each decline there were indications of covering by shorts.

Corn, after an early period of duliness, became the most active market on the board. Shorts were very auxious and found supplies very acarce. The bulls were holding their grain because today's receipts were much less than were expected; because estimates for tomorrow were very light, and because of frosts in Nebraska and Iowa. July opened at $46,54% and sold up to $6% c, and closed a shade below the highest.

Oats were governed in their fluctuations by corn, holders were not inclined to sell, while buyers were anxious. The result was an advance from the opening at $15,60%, and closed a shade below the highest.

After a duil period early, a large business was transacted in provisions. Country traders were doing little, but local traders were changing a great deal of near contracts to deferred futures.

Fluctuations during the session were confined to an arrow range, an advance in corn imparting some strength to the market near the close. July option shows the following advances compared with yesterday's final figures: Pork, 1%c, lard, 8c; ribs, 3%c.

The leading futures ranged as toliows in Chosing.

POISONING THE DOGS.

But the Dogs are Wise, and Have Resigned in Favor of the Chickens. EASTMAN, Ga., May 26.—[Special.] og peisoner is abroad in this section. the yard dog of Mrs. J. W. Noles, of this county, and it required the most stremuous efforts on her part and that of a friend to save the dog's life. Afterward this same person, or some other equally vile, made another effort to accomplish the death of the dog, as some poison bait was found in the yard again. Of this a number of Mrs. Noles's chickens had eaten and died, and now she hesitates to use a ceicken on her table for fear of poisoning somebody.

The death of the little son of Mr. J. T. Rawlins, of Telfair county, from eating a poisoned piece of bread found in his father's yard, should be a warning to persons who scatter poison around.

A Healthy Section.

CUMMING, Ga., May 26.—[Special.]—Speaking of the healthfulness of north Georgia at the convention, Rev. McConnell said that this section raised all their children, while other sections did not. That thirteen children here went out thirteen men and women. That he knew of twenty-one children in one family.

GEORGIA YELLOW PINE | the year 1800, amounts to a conduct of the WILE OUR TIMBER BE EXHAUSTED

at Is What Hen. Guyt McLeuden Told the callroad Commission Yesterday—An In-teresting Case About Lumber Rates.

The petition of the lumber carrying rail-roads of Georgia for an increase in rates on lumber and naval stores came up for a hearing yesterday morning before the railroad commission.

Many prominent railway officials and lumbermen were present as interested parties.

Colonel C. D. Owens, traffic manager of the Plant system made the first argument. He contined his remarks principally to the naval stores industry. He, in a very clear and forcible manner, reviewed the history of naval stores, showing that adithe present, prices were very high, higher, in fact, than they had been in recent years. He submitted a table showing that the railroads in North and South Carolina, Alabama, and, in fact, nearly all the southern states, were granted much higher rates than were allowed the railroads in Georgia for the trans-allowed the railroads in Georgia for the transertation of lumber.

Hon. Guyt McEendon followed Mr. Owens, presenting the railroad side of the case.

In his speech Mr. McLendon gave some facts about the lumber business that will prove highly interesting.

After introductory remarks, Mr. McLenden argued that the state of Georgia had in 1886 not less than 33,000,000,000 feet of lumber in her standing trees.

than 33,000,000,000 feet of lumber in ner standing trees.

There were in 1890 about 16,000,000 acres of pine land in the state of Georgia, and estimating that there was an averagej of 2,000 feet of lumber to each acre, taking the whole area into considera-tion, the quantity of lumber would not fall short of this estimate. This, therefore, is what Georgia had to her credit on account of her pines in that had to her credit on account or not purely year.

Estimating that our pine forests would reproduce themselves every thirty-three years, and as a matter or fact 100 years would be nearer the mark, Georgia had in this wast estate an investment with a dividend earning capacity of about 3 per cent per annum. During the year 1880 there was sawed into lumber from our pines 272,743,000

Was sawed into the control of 1880 he found that in one year in Georgia, 5,916,045 cords of wood were consumed, with a population of 1,542,140; this was less than four cords per capita, per annum. In sixty counties in the pine belt, there was a population of 553,536. Counting four cords of wood per capita, per annum, for this population, we see that there were consumed in the pine belt, 2,214,-144 cords of wood for cooking and general doinestic uses.

It only one-eighth of this was cut from merchantable timber, and this is certainly a conservative estimate, particularly in view of the fact that many small trees, which in course of time would make merchantable timber, are cut up into wood, then 53,134,431 feet of lumber was burned up that year. Inasmuch as the quantity consumed by rallroads, as fuel for locomotives, and by manufacturers, is not here counted, it is fair to put the consumption, on account of fuel, down at this feure.

Fire swept over 705,351 acres of land in Georgia uring the census year, inflicting a loss of Fire swept over 100,301 acres or land in deterga-during the census year, inflicting a loss of $167,620. In 1830 there were about 1,200 miles of railread traversing the counties in question. On each mile of track there were 2,640 crossites, each con-taining fifty-four feet. On each mile, therefore, there were 142,560 feet of lumber in crossites, and on the 1,200 miles there were 171,072,000 feet. As-suming that renewals are necessary every five years, the railroads would use one-fifth of this amount, and, therefore, in 1880, consumed 34,214,-400 feet.

years, the railroads would use one-fitth of this amount, and, therefore, in 1880, consumed 38,214,400 feet.

We have seen that in 1880, according to the comptroller general's report, there were 16,000,000 acres of land returned for tax-tion as improved land. We have seen from the government estimate that only about 30 per cens of this land was in actual cultivation. This would give 4,800,000 acres as being in actual cultivation by a population of 853,559 persons.

According to these estimates, we see that about 8 6-10 acres per capita, were cultivated, or forty-three acres for each family of five persons. It is certainly within the mark to say, that in keeping up plantation fences, as many as twenty rails per acre, per annum, are used. If this is true, then the people in these sixty counties, used in the year 1880, 96,000,000 ratis, or 564,000,000 feet of lumber. Suppose half of these rails were obtained from other than merchantable timber, then we would see that 432,000,000 feet of lumber went into fences.

Now, if these fences have to be renewed every seven years, the annual draft upon the forests, on this account, would be, or was, in 1880, 412,632,371 feet of fumber. But this, it will be seen, I have put down at 432,000,000.

By reference to the compendium to the tenth census, pages 691 to 696, it will be seen that the actual number of farms of all sizes, in these bounties, large and small, in 1880, was 48,664.

So on a basis of forty-three acres to each family, the number I give is close to correct.

Let us see what a practical and successful farmer has to say on this subject:

As the yellow pine, under fair conditions and friendly care, will reproduce itself in about thirty-three years, Georgia, by her operations, in that year, was not using her capital, but was just about spending her income.

Since 1880, our population has increased about 12½ per cent, and if our demands upon our forests have increased at a corresponding rate, we have consumed on expense account for the current per increased.

He then spoke of turpentining, and the firms which follow ruining the timber.

He said 1,000,000 acres were now in use for tursentine purposes.

The Georgia legislature says that 4,869,837 acres of land have been boxed for turpentine purposes, focurse including that now in use.

Two per cent of this land is destroyed by fire for nilling purposes.

Two per cent of this tand is destroyed by incomining purposes.

If Georgia loses 20,000 acres of timber, containing 60,000,000 feet of lumber, by fire, ob lands in ctual use for turpentine purposes, and loses one ree, per acre, each tree containing 160 feet, on 860,872 acres, which have been boxed, worked out adapted one was easier to be seen that the loss from fires, during the year 1800, will foot up 860,172,250 feet.

The amount of long and short leaf pine standing a Georgia today is, by rough estimate, 30,000,000,000 feet, about half of which is long leaf.

We have expended during the current year, according to the several items which have been disputed.

Thus the fact stands one is serrifying prominence, that the great state of Georgia will in a very few years be desinded of its yellow pine.

Why is it that these forests are vanishing so rapidly? Why is it that in 1830 there were returned for taxation in Dedge county only 223, 256 acres of land, leaving unreturned and untaxed in that year Nf,644 acres?

And why is it that in 1850 420,202 acres, or 49, 002 acres more than are in the county, are returned?

He cited the same condition of affects in the on screen more than are in the county, are returned?

He cited the same condition of affairs in other counties, and then read statements from Comprehence; and then read statements from Comprehence; whight, showing Georgia timber lands to be owned in bodies of from 1 to 255,300 acres, and that they were returned for taxation at from 3 cents to $1 per acre.

Five names on this list reture for taxes 66, 204 acres; 25,500 more than there are in the whole state of shoots island, 4 a gress valuation of $408,199, and will pay a tax this year to the state for general purposes of $50,577.

Eight names on this list return 218,438 acres, at a gress valuation of $408,199, and will pay a tax this year to the state for general purposes of $50,577.

Eight names on this list return 218,438 acres, at a gress valuation of $40,577.

It Clinch county over two-thirds of a million acres are returned at 21 cents per acre, 6 cents per acre less than they were valued at in 1889.

Another startling contrast is found just here. Ten counties in Georgia, devoted mainly to agriculture, have returned for taxation for the year 1890, 226,751 acres less than there are acres in these counties, or an average deficit per county of 25,575 acres. Ten counties, whose principal interest is timber, have returned for taxation, for the year 1890, 691,465 acres more than there are acres in those counties, or an average deficit per county of 25,575 acres. Ten counties, whose principal interest is timber, have returned for taxation, for the year 1890, 691,465 acres more than there are acres in those counties, or an average excess of 69,144 per county. These are strange facts. From them one thing is manifest: Georgia pine lands are more in demand than her best agricultural lands.

He then argued there was a profit of $1.33 per them one thing is manifest: Georgia pine lands are more in demand than her best agricultural lands.

He then argued there was a profit of $1.33 per sore per annum in turpentine lands. He argued the awarage cost of lumber f. o. b. to be $6 per 1,000 fest. Adding freight, he said, the cost delivered at seahoard was $4.85 per 1,000. As the selling price is $13, he said, there is a splendid profit in it. This, he said, would be a profit of $12 per acre in lumber.

Every acre of Georgia pine land will bring readily, in open market, $10 or more before another census is taken.

This leads us to the question, why should not these rates on lamber and naval stores be increased in face of all'the facts I have presented?

A small increase in rates will not make home building more expensive to the people of Georgia for two reasons: First, most of the lumber used is outside of large cities supplied by mills close at hand; and second, nearly all of the lumber shipped goes to points outside of Georgia.

Profits in pine tree products are larger than the profits in any other business. At the present rate of regitimate consumption, and illegitimate destruction, the forests of Georgia will become practically exhausted in fifteen years.

When the pine, as a sourceof transportation is gone, with what will the commission replace the revenue of railroads, if it does not add this to the burdens of agriculture.

Mr. McLendon asked to be allowed to increase the rate on lumber 16 cents per 1,000.

IN THE LIFE INSURANCE BUSINESS. Mr. E. H. Barnes, Who Has Severed His Connection with the East Tennessee Road Enters the Insurance Business.

There was no more efficient railroad superintendent in Georgia than Mr. E. H. Barnes. He has been actively connected with the railroad business for a number of years, and worked his way up to the very top. He is a man that will lead in any business he undertakes, and now that he has entered the insurfriends that he will forge his way to the front in a very short time. Mr. Barnes has already been appointed special agent of the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance company of Newark, N. J., and of the Em ance Corporation of London. These two ex-cellent companies are to be congratulated on securing the services of this gentleman. All who are interested in life insurance may have the assurance that they will be fairly and cor-dially treated by Mr. Barnes. His office is 233. Whitehall street, over the Gate City National bank.

It is all bought from one darry, situated in the blue-grass country, and hence always uniform, always of that fine rich color and flavor which blue grass alone imparts to fine Jersey butter. As soon as we receive it we put it in a refrigerator and it is delivered to your house in an ice box. Now, isn't it a treat to have no more poor butter, no more stale butter, no more melted butter, but instead, always the same high grade Jersey? We are furnishing that quality of butter every day, and can supply you. Ask any of our many pleased customers about our butter and then, take their advice and come and do likewise, and the butter problem will troufie you no longer. Another treat is our flipamo, coffee. We call it a treat because we mean it, for nothing is more exhilarating and enjoyable than a cup of fine coffee, and our Rijamo is the highest grade coffee that can be found. It is a combination of Mandeling Java, Mooins and Maracatho, and the blend gives a coffee of fine aroma and of elegant flavor it is always sold at 35 cents, cheaper than you can buy a lower grade elsewhere.

We also propose to affer to our customers some big bargains. How is salmon at 15 cents per can? That is the price it will go at for the next week; also, fine brook trout at 15 cents, fine imported herring at 15 cents, canned mackerel at 15 cents. Now, just think, salmon, brook trout, mackerel, herring and Windham corn at 15 cents a can each. Isn't that cheap enough?

Our low price on blackberry jam will hold good.

HOW'S Your Liver?

Is the Oriental salutation, knowing that good health cannot exist without a healthy Liver. When the Liver is torpid the Bowels are sluggish and con-stipated, the food lies in the stomach undigested, poisoning the blood; frequent headache ensues; a feeling of lassitude, despondency and nervousness indicate how the whole system is deranged. Simmons Liver Regulator has been the means of restoring more people to health and happiness by giving them a healthy Liver than any agency known on earth. It acts with extraordinary power and efficacy. NEVER BEEN DISAPPOINTED,

As a general family remedy for dyspepsia, Torpid Liver, Constipation, etc., I hardly ever use anything else, and have never been dis-appointed in the effect produced; it seems to be almost a perfect cure for all diseases of the Stomach and Bowels. W. J. McElmor, Macon, Ga.

TENNESSEE OIL FIELDS BOUGHT UP BY COLUMBE STARRE, OF ATLANTA.

on Fifty and Seventy Thousand A the Cumberland Plateau—Petrolet cought to Atlanta—Eich Indication

Petroleum has been discovered in Te see, and a company represented by Colonel H. Franklin Starke, of Atlanta, has bought the whole oil-bearing tract of 50,000 or 75,000 acres.

colonel Starke is an old oil man, having nt years in opening, buying and selling ms in Canada and Pennsylvania. He says Tennesses field has richer indications than any he ever saw, and he brought back with him on his return from a recent trip to the Tennes-see mountains, a flask of crude petroleum, which has the odor and the burning qualities which has the odor and the burning qualities of the oil.

The oil tract lies on four streams, immediately west of the coal region of the Cumberland plateau. The greams are the east forks of Obey's river, Euffalo Cone creek, Franklynloreek and Lost Cane creek, all flowing to the Cumberland river, which is at that place twenty or thirty miles to the north, just inside the Kentucky line.

Colonel Starke's associates are Mr. C. E. King, Mr. W. H. Withers, and two other gentlemen whose names are for the present withheld.

The story of the discovery of this great petroleum region is an interesting one, reaching back to the third year of the war. Colonel Starke was lieutenant colonel of the Sixth Texas cavalry and served under VanDorn, Wassier and Forest. In 1865 he was with John Morgan in his nads, and during a part of thas time was associated with Colonel Ten. Woodward, fighting gunboats on the Cumberland.

It was during that time that Colonel Starke

Tem Woodward, fighting gunboats on the Cumberland.

It was during that time that Colonel Starke first noticed the indications of oil on the upper Cumberland. In the desperate fortunes of war he gethered information which may be worth millions to him thirty years later.

After the war Colonel Starke went to New York and settled in the western part of that state, where his headquarters were until he came to Atlanta five years ago. During his residence there he was engaged in the oil business in Penasylvania and Canada, opening wells and selling them and speculating in oil properties.

While in Canada Colonel Starke made the acquaint nee of Mr. A. P. McDonald, a railroad contractor who was a man of affairs, with some political aspirations. By and by Mr. McDonald went to parliament and became units convictions.

fr. McDonald went to parliament and became unite conspicuous. He continued, however, to cop his ergon the resources of the continent, and was much impressed with he wealth of the south. Not long fits the war he went to Tennessee to engage a heavy engineering contracts on the Cumberand, from which obstructions were to be removed. While at work on the river, he also been dead to the didications of oil, and on his resum to Canada, told Colonel Starke he thought anneassee contained the greatest oil fields on

Tennessee contained the greatest oil fields on the continent.

All this the Texan treasured in his heart these many years. Meantime, about 1876, another confederate soldier, who had been through that country, went up to Fentress county and bered a well 300 feet deep. He struck oil, but exhausted his means in doing so, and his effects soon fell into the hands of his creditory. The old soldier got, together as imany barrels as he could and filled them with crude petroleum. Than he got a raft, loaded it with the barrels of oil and started down one of the streams of that region to the Cumberland rives, thence floating down to Nashville. In the meantime his creditors seized his machinery and nothing more was heard of him. He had taken the precaution to plug up his well, and the creditors made nothing out of that.

About five years ago Colonel Starke came to Atlanta to live. He remembered the oil region of Tennessee and kept his eyes on it. He worked with wonderful quietness and nobody dreamed that he had a reat scheme of that kind on foot.

of Tennessee and kept his eyes on it. He worked with wonderful quietness and nobody dreamed that he had a great scheme of that kind on foot. At last he arranged to get a lease for thirty-two years on the whole tract of 50,000 to 75,000 acres in Fentress, Overton and Pickett counties. On the recent trip of the delegation from Atlanta to the Scotch-Irish congress at Louisville, Colonel Starke was a quiet but interested member of the party. He said little about himself and only a chance remark dropped the information that he was going to take a horse-back trip through the Tennessee mountains on his return. He left the party at Chattaneoga and went up the Cincinnal Southern to a station near Rugby. Crossing over the mountains and passing through iRugby, he reached Fentress county, where he closed the contract for the thirty-two years lease. Colonel Starke says the oil ozzes from the soft mud on the banks of the streams, and by thrusting his walking stick into the mud, he made a hole from which petroleum flowed steadily. In this way he gathered several gallons in a hole from which petroleum flowed steadily. In this way he gathered, several gallons in a very short time.

"It will be worth millions," said be. "We would not sell it for $500,000 now. The indications are the richest I ever saw, and I am an old hand at the business."

The matter has already attracted the attention of local capitalists. Mr. Phil Haralson was enthusiastic as soon as he saw the oil, and offers to add in the organization of a company to develop the property. Colonel Starke's programme is to organize a company and open wells on the tract.

The Best Investment You Can Make.
Atlanta real estate is a good investment, and always yields handsome profits to those who have money. A dollar invested in a lottery is good when you win the capital prize, provided you would use the money obtained in that way (and who wouldn't?). But the best investment of all is to be cured of all ills, restored to health, and thereby be happy. It don't take a fortune for that.

Now, if you have a case of PILES or an old Fistura that you want to keep for the sake of company, you don't need me, but if you have either and, want to get well, I will GUARANTEE to cure you.
